

A Young Macedonian in the Army of Alexander the Great (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from A Young Macedonian in the Army of Alexander the Great The visit of Alexander to Jerusalem is recorded by Josephus only. The fact that it is not mentioned by Artian, who had contemporary diaries before him, by Quintus Curtius, or by Diodorus Siculus, certainly throws some doubt upon it. But it must be remembered that Jerusalem was not more interesting than any other Syrian town to these writers. Bishop Westcott thinks that Josephuss narrative may be true, and I am content to make this opinion my defence for introducing the incident into my story. I J H I iia. C.
