The Cheery Cricket Mama, exclaimed Elsie May, theres something squeaking in one of the chinks in the fireplace and it stops whenever I come in. I wonder what it is. Ive heard it, Mama replied as she went on with her work, It sa little cricket. Ill creep up close and keep real still, said Elsie May to herself, and perhaps I shall see him. So she pulled a cushion up near the fireplace and kept very still. When she had just about given up hope of hearing him, the little cricket began chirping, and this is what Elsie May heard him singing: Klickity, Klickity, Rickity Ray, Oh, what a wonderful moonlit day. The stars are out and its nearly noon, The Sun is green and sos the moon, Ray, Rickity, Klickity, Klickity, Klickity, Klickity, Rickity Ray, Oh, what a wonderful moonlit day The stars are Elsie May began giggling and a tiny head in a red hat looked out of one of the chinks of the fireplace at her.(Typographical errors above are due to OCR software and dont occur in the book.)About the Publisher Forgotten Books is a publisher of historical writings, such as: Philosophy, Classics, Science, Religion, History, Folklore and Mythology.Forgotten Books Classic Reprint Series utilizes the latest technology to regenerate facsimiles of historically important writings.
